Welfare Demands Still Being Stressed By Lewis

Lewis Delaying Negotiations On New Wage Pact

Continues Running Debate With Mine Owners On Health And Welfare Conditions

WAGE EXPIRATION DATE IS APRIL 1

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(INS)—John L. Lewis demanded today as the price of "peace or war" in the coal industry that the nation's mine owners agree to carry out safety recommendations of the United States Bureau of Mines.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(INS)—Negotiations for a new soft coal wage contract were delayed today while John L. Lewis pursued his running debate with mine owners on health and welfare conditions in the nation's mining areas.

The issues of higher wages and shorter working hours for a half million miners temporarily were shoved to one side as union and management representatives engaged in a verbal battle over the industry's treatment of its employees.

Neither side would predict when the national bituminous conference would get down to the business of bargaining on a 1946 wage agreement to replace the existing contract expected to terminate April 1.

Lewis To Resume

Lewis was scheduled to resume today his rebuttal of the operators' contentions that the over-all safety and medical programs of the mining industry are efficient and progressive.

The veteran UMW leader demanded that the operators subscribe to an agreement to bring mine safety requirements throughout the industry up to the high standards observed in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania. He said:

"It is going to take more than mere words and pious platitudes to satisfy this situation. It is going to take affirmative action to eliminate some of these ills and evils."

Seeking Welfare Funds

Lewis dramatically told the conference that his own father "died" (Continued on Page Two)

Mounting Resentment Over Power Politics Confronting UNRRA

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 19.—(INS)—A steadily mounting resentment over the "power politics" which UNRRA Director General Herbert H. Lehman frankly conceded had been regarding urgent United Nations relief and sowing the seeds of "further armed conflict," was moving today toward an explosive head.

Many of the 47 member nations of UNRRA, both big and small, were pointing up to an open-airing of some major international differences, probably starting in today's debate at the two scheduled plenary council sessions.

Efforts Are Hampered

Aggravation over the manner in which certain international boards, whose membership is confined to the major powers, have been hampering efforts to speed relief.

SOCIETY GUESTS OF SUPT. CUMMINGS

Members of the Mahoning and Shenango Valley Engineers Society were given an opportunity of seeing what the future holds for heavy industry when they were the guests of Superintendent Howard Cummings of the United Engineering and Foundry Company, on a tour of the local plant, Monday evening.

Following dinner at The Castle, the group, numbering over 150 was conducted through the great plant here and saw the place in operation from the pouring of the metal for the large steel castings to the machining of the various parts which go into great rolling mills and presses.

Furnace Poured

One furnace was poured while the group was there, a 50-ton charge being poured into a great flask, which in turn was carried by crane to the molds. One of the largest steel foundries in the world, the local plant has a capacity of 15,000 tons per month, with its three furnaces, two of 50-ton capacity, and one of 100-ton capacity.

The contents of the two largest of these furnaces was needed recently to supply the metal for the biggest casting yet made at the local plant, a 289,000 pound piece, which (Continued on Page Two)

PA NEW OBSERVES

Horseshoe playing was in vogue in the Croton district, Monday afternoon, by several of the enthusiastic residents, who were taking advantage of the warm sunshiny afternoon.

A number of the city buses are emerging with shiny new coats of paint to keep up with the freshness of the spring weather that has been enjoyed the past few days.

En route to Pittsburgh, over the week end, Pa. News noted one filling station offering free chances on Nylos to every purchaser of gas. At the moment, there were no acceptances of the offer.

This is the time of year when thoughts turn to hot days, cool lemonade and the circus and it may be stated that New Castle is one city considered to be a "good show town" hence it is probable that before the leaves fall in autumn there will have been several circuses here. Asked today if any permit had been granted for a circus to appear here, Mayor John F. Haven asserted that as yet no circus advance agents had made their appearance. It is likely however, he added that, they will soon be here to take out permits.

YOUNG HEIRESS UNDISMAYED BY NIGHT IN JAIL

DETROIT, March 19.—(INS)—Blue-eyed Suzanne Froedtert, 16-year-old run-away Milwaukee heiress, will confer with "family representatives" today after spending the night in the Highland Park jail.

The high-spirited teen-ager, who disappeared from exclusive Edgewood Academy at Madison, Wis., last week, appeared undismayed at her dreary surroundings.

The girl's father, Kurtis Froedtert, executive of a grain and malting firm talked to police by long-distance telephone last night from his winter home in Miami Beach.

Distressed over the affair, Froedtert requested that formal statements be taken from his daughter and her alleged husband, Ollie J. Williams, 24, of Madison, Wis.

Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien quoted the father as saying he is not vengeful but resents what has happened and is confused and shocked. Highland Park police described Suzanne as "strong willed" and "snippy."

CLAIM PROCESS WOULD SAVE HUGE SUPPLY OF BREAD

BUFFALO, March 19.—(INS)—An electronic process that could save the nation 150 million loaves of bread now lost annually through mold was suggested today to combat the national flour shortage.

Dr. William S. Cathcart, 34-year-old head of the A. & P. chain stores laboratory in New York, said a one-second high frequency treatment kills mold spores in freshly milled bakery products.

Large-scale use of the process, which could be applied to many food products, he said, is impracticable at present because the necessary machinery has not been yet devised.

To Speed Bills On Housing And Appropriations

Senate Delays Action On Minimum Wage Bill To Speed Action On Others

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(INS)—Administration leaders planned today to sidetrack their controversial minimum wage bill long enough to speed Senate passage of pending appropriation and housing legislation.

Their apparent purpose was two-fold:

1. To gain additional time in which to work out a compromise on the 65-cent-an-hour wage bill, sidetracked by an amendment requiring that labor costs be included in computing farm parity prices.

2. To get Senate "record" action on housing legislation, regarded by Senate leaders as a political must, in the face of veterans' demands that their needs be promptly met.

Call Up Housing Program

Tentative arrangements were made to call up the Wagner-Feininger bill, creating a housing range housing program later this week. This is not the emergency price control housing legislation demanded by Housing Administrator Wilson Wyatt. But the Senate Banking committee is ready to run through one or two days of public hearings on the House-passed emergency bill and bring it to an early vote.

Truman Says United States Supports U.N.O.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(INS)—President Truman in a message to Congress today declared the United States fully supports the United Nations charter as an instrument of world peace.

The President's message on the eve of the opening of the U.N.O. Security Council meeting in New York transmitted a report by Secretary of State Byrnes on the achievements of the first United Nations general assembly in London.

Mr. Truman told Congress that full participation in efforts toward solution of "the urgent problems confronting the 51 members of the United Nations is vital to all Americans."

The President declared:

"The United States supports the charter."

"The United States supports the fullest implementation of the principles of the charter."

"The United States seeks to achieve the purposes of the charter."

"And the United States seeks to perfect the charter as experience lights the way. To do less than our utmost in this essential effort of peace-loving nations, whatever may be the obstacles and difficulties, would be a betrayal of the trust of those who fought to win the opportunity to have a world at last with peace and security, and well-being, for all."

"To do our utmost will be to give new and full expression to the meaning of 'America' to the world."

Hitler Tantrum Told In Detail

NUERNBERG, March 19.—(INS)—One of Adolf Hitler's most dramatic tantrums, when he shouted he would build "U-boats, U-boats and U-boats" and "swarm of air-crafts to smash England was described in eloquent detail today at the Nazi war criminal trial.

The testimony came from Ringer Dahlerus, a Swedish businessman who claims he tried to negotiate peace on behalf of Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering and appeared as the first witness in the latest defense.

Dahlerus, who depicted Joachim Von Ribbentrop as a would-be murderer and Goering as a good samaritan, told of a meeting with Hitler and Goering in the Berlin chancellery on August 20, 1939. He said:

"Hitler harangued for 20 minutes against Britain. He shouted: 'I'll build U-boats, U-boats and U-boats getting more excited every moment we talked.'"

"I'll build airplanes, airplanes and airplanes to win the war," he added."

Leaders Of New Theatre Project Here On Monday

Michael Manos, president of the Monessen Amusement Company, and Bernard Buchheit, general manager of the company, both of Greensburg, were in New Castle, Monday, in connection with preliminary details of work being done in preparation for erection of their new theatre in this city.

The theatre, to seat 1600, and of modern style throughout will be erected near the public square, on South Jefferson street.

CHURCHILL TO RETURN HOME

NEW YORK, March 19.—(INS)—Winston Churchill prepared today to wind up his current U. S. visit tomorrow, when he will sail back to England on the liner Queen Mary.

The wartime British premier was the guest last night of Bernard M. Baruch at a private dinner in New York.

Morgenthau Assails Policy In Germany

PHILADELPHIA, March 19.—(INS)—Henry Morgenthau Jr., former secretary of the treasury, was adamant today that the Allied program to render Germany incapable of future wars was being applied "hesitantly and half-heartedly."

"Failure to agree on a unified policy in Germany," Morgenthau warned, "is much an invitation for renewed German aggression and future wars."

Morgenthau told the American Academy of Political Science that there are "some people who don't want a weak Germany, despite the experience of two world wars."

He said that "confusion and belatedness" characterized American policy toward Germany.

Created Deliberately

"Much of this," he charged, "is created deliberately despite agreement by former President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill at Quebec to alter Germany into an agrarian economy."

Martin T. Bennett, a member of the United States Reparation committee, recently returned from Japan, told the social scientists that American policy in Japan should be changed to remove the desire for war from the hearts of the Japanese people.

He said:

"It is obviously wiser to encourage the Japanese to fashion their own democratic structure rather than impose a government of our design."

He scoffed at contentions that a strong Japan should be maintained as a buffer against Soviet Russia in the Orient. "History has already written its bloody comment on this bulwark-against-Bolshevism theory," Bennett asserted.

Black Market In Used Cars Will Be Probed

DETROIT, March 19.—(INS)—OPA sources disclosed today that a federal grand jury will be presented with evidence uncovered in a gigantic Detroit black market in used cars.

These sources said that indictments will be sought against a score of persons. It has been disclosed that between 4,000 and 6,000 good used cars have vanished from the Detroit market at prices ranging from $50 to $300 over the established OPA ceiling. OPA officials describe the situation as the largest black market in cars in the country.

The officials, however, emphasize that no established car dealers are involved in the ring. Rather, it was their complaints about the scarcity of good used automobiles that led to the investigation.

The probe is being undertaken by special agents of the currency protection division of OPA. The inquiry is nationwide.

MAN IS KILLED CHANGING TIRE

ALTOONA, Pa., March 19.—(INS)—Amos Lee, 37, of Hollidaysburg, died today from injuries sustained in a two-car collision on the highway near Altoona.

Lee, chauffeur for State Supreme Court Judge Marion D. Patterson, was repairing a flat tire when a car crashed into his parked auto, police said.

Howard I. Cooper, of Portersville, and William D. West, R. D. No. 4, have just returned from a ten day business trip to Florida.

Pickets Appear In Evening Clothes

NEW YORK, March 19.—(INS)—Striking employees of a Connecticut tool factory came up with something new today—picketing in formal evening clothes.

Dressed in "slop and fish" attire, they marched up and down in front of the Park avenue apartment of Mrs. Lillian Benninger Webb, president of the William Schollhorn company, whose New Haven plant is strikebound in a wage dispute.

They were undeterred by a maid who insisted Mrs. Webb was out of the city.

Fear Sabotage Attempts Made At Nuernberg

Earphone System At War Trial Breaks Down—U.S. Army Arrests 62

NUERNBERG, March 19.—(INS)—The U. S. army sealed off Nuernberg station today, screened 1,640 persons and arrested 62 as fears rose that sabotage has caused the recurrent breakdown of the earphone system at the war criminal trial.

Vital to proper conduct of court proceedings, the unexplained interruption of earphone service has halted sessions for hours at a time.

"Routine Check" Made

The arrests at Nuernberg station were made in what was described officially as a "routine check" that had no connection with the trial of von Nazi leaders.

However, the move was viewed as significant in view of the general suspicion of security measures.

Besides the 39 arrested persons, 24 were held for further questioning. Seven of these lacked proper papers.

A new military rule now demands that notices be displayed on all places in this area—a formality that was never before insisted upon.

Although the security earphone system was thoroughly checked and within this morning's sessions were again interrupted by faulty communications.

Rigor Dahlerus, Swedish businessman who admittedly ran pre-war errands for former Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, was first defense witness for the one-time Nazi leader.

Bandits Escape With $2,000 Loot

PHILADELPHIA, March 19.—(INS)—Police searched today for three bandits who escaped with more than $2,000 in checks and cash after holding up a savings and loan society meeting in a North Philadelphia apartment.

The robbers, two of them wearing stocking masks, lined up three persons against a kitchen wall and rifled their pockets. Then they seized approximately $300 in funds of the society, which is known as the Miriam Carroll Savings and Loan Association.

Detectives said the bandits, who carried revolvers and lead-pipe clubs, apparently were familiar with the association's custom of holding monthly meetings in the kitchen of the apartment.

President Not Making Direct Appeal To Stalin

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(INS)—The White House today threw cold water on speculative reports that President Truman planned to make a direct appeal to Generalissimo Stalin for unity over the Iranian situation.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross, asked concerning such reports, said that they were without foundation.

The White House also said that definite plans have not yet been made for President Truman to attend the opening session of the United Nations Security Council in New York Monday.

Ross said the President "still hopes to go" but that no definite arrangements have been made.

Dispatches from Tehran said Premier Ahmad Ghanian had instructed Ala to ask the United Nations security council to act on Russia's refusal to withdraw her troops from Iran.

The embassy said it was probable that Ala would have a statement to make later in the day.

It was noted in Washington that (Continued on Page Two)

Baruch Will Be Confirmed

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(INS)—The appointment of Bernard Baruch as American representative on the international atomic control board today appeared headed for speedy senate confirmation.

The nomination was expected to be received by the senate today and probably will go to the senate foreign relations committee. Sen. Vandenberg (R., Mich.), a committee member said he would want to hear Baruch's views on atomic energy.

Selection of the 73-year-old presidential adviser received general approval.

Man Is Held In Death Of Woman

PITTSBURGH, March 19.—(INS)—Police today held James Drayton, 35, in connection with the murder of Mrs. Essie Mae Crum, 21, who was stabbed to death with a butcher knife.

Drayton was picked up three hours after witnesses reported seeing a "tall man chase a woman with a butcher knife" in Pittsburgh's hill district.

The suspect was quoted by police as saying:

"I didn't mean no harm I was just playing."

Oh, where has the football hero gone, and where are those lusty cheers that carried for miles on the autumn air as they rose from the jam-packed tiers. And not for months who rides away with ticklers hanging from every wheel—it's cool, 49 today.

College Dietitian Finds Job Tougher Now Than Year Ago

Has Grudge Against Pie Crust Wasters And Students Who Take Sugar To Make Candy

NEW WILMINGTON, March 19.—The difficult job of feeding approximately 800 people at breakfast, lunch, and dinner, day after day, is being handled efficiently by Miss Susan Scurr, head dietitian at Westminster College since 1941.

Miss Scurr has her hands full in planning all menus, directing kitchen personnel, and purchasing supplies and food. This has been especially true in the post-war period. "Strangely enough, food is much harder to get now than during the war," the dietitian reports.

However, in her estimation any institution located in a rural area as Westminster is has a decided advantage. Miss Scurr finds it comparatively easy to obtain such scarce articles as chicken, lard, strawberries in season, and tomatoes.

Oh, Yes, Butter

One of the scarcest foods is butter. Before the war Ferguson Hall, coed dormitory, was using 150 pounds of butter a week. Now 30 to 40 pounds is the limit.

Waste on the whole is small in the dormitory dining rooms. People who take more butter than they can use and who don't eat pie crusts are biggest offenders. Neither does Miss Scurr appreciate the students who eat the sugar bowls to make their own fudge.

Much of a college dietitian's work is co-ordinating, Miss Scurr believes. "You never know when the electricity will go off and make use of dumb waiters and dish washers impossible. Then last week my head cook received a subpoena to serve in a murder trial jury and couldn't work," she explained.

Ice Cream Versus Parsnips

At Westminster probably the most general favorite of foods is ice cream. Parsnips are probably disliked most but they are served to give those who are fond of parsnips a chance to eat them.

A native of Iowa, Miss Scurr was graduated from Iowa State, taught home economics in a high school five years, and served a year's internship in the Minneapolis General Hospital. She obtained a master of science degree in institutional administration at Penn State in 1941.

April showers bring May flowers—eventually. But, at the moment, they also bring April glovers.

EXPECT NIMITZ TO SEEK LARGER FUND FOR NAVY

Truman and is now under consideration by the House appropriations committee, which is holding closed sessions.

Rep. Rivers (D) S. C., a naval affairs committee member, said his group was confident the appropriations committee would restore "a substantial portion of the cut." Rivers denounced the action taken by the budget office as "contemptible."

He told the House: "If this country is to be ruled by executive order... we might as well close up Congress."

To Hear Facts

Rep. Vinson (D) Ga., naval affairs committee chairman, said the purpose of the hearing, at which budget officials will also testify, was to "bring the facts before Congress."

He indicated that if the appropriations committee failed to restore the cut or a substantial portion an attempt would be made by his committee to vote increased funds when the 1947 fiscal measure comes before the house.

The more than six billion dollar budget presented by the navy was designed to maintain a U.S. fleet composed of 1079 fighting units, of which more than 300 would be kept on active duty and the rest in reserve.

Vinson complained that unless the cut was restored "essential" activities now being planned by the navy would have to be curtailed.

ENGINEERS TOUR PLANT OF UNITED

will become a huge Ajax press. This is still cooling off in a pit in the foundry and will be lifted out to be finished on Friday.

Little remains of the old shell-line, which occupied the bulk of the plant's capacity in the closing days of the war. The plant is now devoting its full time to turning out the great machinery which will produce automobiles, aluminum products, plastics, etc.

Included among the orders on which United is now working are machinery for the French and Russian governments, in addition to those for large corporations in this country which are gearing for the post-war business.

Those who had not previously visited the plant were thrilled by the immensity of the machinery needed to produce all these things, and of the great variety of products being turned out. They saw the part United is playing in the rebuilding of American business.

Th. UMW is seeking an industry-financed health and welfare fund—presumably created by a "royalty" on coal—for medical treatment, hospitalization and compensation benefits for injured miners.

The other major point in dispute between the parties at this time is the union's demand for the organization of mine foremen under the banner of the UMW's District 50.

Lewis roared defiance of the mine owners' argument that the unionization of supervisory workers is an issue to be settled in the courts. He accused the operators of planning "a nationwide lockout" on the question.

MOUNTING WAVE OF RESENTMENT CONFRONTS U.N.O.

pering the efforts of UNRRA to supply critically needed relief is one issue.

Another is the consideration shown Germany, Japan and Italian needs as against the sorely pressed liberated countries.

A third—and one which probably will provide the most spectacular oratorical fire-works—is that of future treatment of nearly half a million displaced refugees now being cared for in UNRRA camps in Germany, Austria and other central European countries.

Soviet Russia, through its delegate, Nikolai Feonov, brought the "lack of trust" in UNRRA by certain special boards into the open.

Attacks Central Board

He specifically attacked the central food board, composed of American, British and Canadian representatives, for nullifying and ignoring the efforts of UNRRA to supply a bare minimum of food to population facing the direct starvation.

Feonov also condemned the European coal organization and the London coal committee, citing their refusal to give Yugoslavia critically needed fuel merely because Yugoslavia was not a member of either setup—but at the same time sending half a million tons to Italy.

The Russian noted that UNRRA reports Yugoslavia needed the coal in the worst way had been ignored.

Director General Lehman, in his earlier report to the council, had suggested that the central food board be expanded into a comprehensive, continuously-sitting organization, and particularly expressed hope Soviet Russia would become a member.

IRAN ISSUE IS CERTAIN TO BE UNO PROBLEM

Russia has informed Iran she will consider it an "unfriendly act" if the matter is forced before the security council.

Andrei Gromyko, Soviet ambassador to the United States, is to attend the coming security council meeting in New York as a Russian delegate.

Iran's charges against Russia are expected to be presented by Ala to Trygve Lie, secretary-general of UNO, who arrived in Washington yesterday.

It was presumed that Ala would wait until the security council meets in New York next Monday before filing a formal complaint.

Diplomatic Battleground

Lie's arrival from London started discussions of the diplomatic battleground to be pursued at the coming UNO council meeting.

The secretary-general, who took up headquarters at the Blair-Lee House, across the street from the state department, spent the day in conference with his close advisers.

Lie has the task of drawing up an agenda for the council meeting which will be faced immediately with a urgent problems now that Iran has decided to ask the organization's aid.

Tumorrow the Norwegian UNO official whose election was supported by the Soviet Union, will confer with President Truman and Secretary of State James F. Byrnes. These visits, however, are regarded primarily as "courtesy calls" and are not likely to deal with the growing cloud of problems which may give UNO its most vital test.

GI's Warned Against Using Souvenir Arms

Gun Engineer Cautions Soldiers About Using .30 Caliber Ammunition

NEW HAVEN, CONN.—(INS)—Souvenir collecting GI's have been warned not to use .30-caliber carbine cartridges for sporting purposes or in revolvers even though the cartridges may have a superficial similarity to revolver ammunition.

The warning was sounded by Edwin Pugsley, chief gun engineer, of the Winchester Repeating Arms company division of Olin Industries, Inc., which developed both the cartridge and the carbine for the army.

To the layman, the one and five-eighths inch long carbine cartridge may look somewhat like the ammunition used in the .32 Winchester rifle, Pugsley said. Fortunately, the government carbine cartridge will not breach in a .32 Winchester rifle nor will ammunition for the .32 rifle breach in the government carbine.

Can Chamber Revolver

It is possible to chamber a revolver to fire either or both of these cartridges. This is because in the revolver the heads of the cartridges are backed up by a flat plate only, not a recessed plate with an extractor.

Nether Smith and Wesson nor Colt recommend the use of their revolvers for the .32 caliber Winchester high velocity rifle cartridge because it develops a pressure one and three-quarters greater than that for which the revolvers are designed.

The carbine cartridge develops a pressure level at least two and a half times greater, and any shooter who tries to fire a carbine cartridge in a revolver is flirting with trouble, Pugsley said.

Explains Wage Settlement At Shaw-Perkins Co.

According to Norman Turner, of the grievance committee of the employees of the Shaw-Perkins Company at West Pittsburg, announcement made recently of the wage adjustment at the plant, which ended the strike, has been misconstrued.

He says that terms of settlement provided for a 12 1/2 cent per hour wage increase with the contract left open for negotiation of the remaining 6 cents later. Retroactive pay from January 1, of 6 1/2 cents per hour was agreed upon, he reports.

Employees were given a ten cents per hour raise last fall, but this was not included in the settlement, Mr. Turner said.

Red Cross Handles 2,543 Requests For Leaves In 2 Years

Summing up its statistics for the two years of 1944 and 1945, the Lawrence county Red Cross chapter finds that it made 2,543 furlough investigations—1,535 of them in '44 and 1,008 in '45.

Each furlough investigation which means verifying the necessity of an emergency furlough or leave, or an emergency extension, means a number of phone calls and at least one and often two or more telegrams. Frequently a home visit must be made requiring the cooperation of the motor corps and long distance telephone calls are very often necessary, when the situation is too urgent for slower methods of communication.

Verification of the furlough request involves conversation with the family, with the doctor, with funeral directors and sometimes with lawyers.

Other inquiries and messages involving telegrams during the two years amounted to 1,745, the chapter reports.

Hearing Held On Union Petition From Local Plant

Before Trial Examiner Joseph Lepie of the National Relations Board, a hearing was held in court room number two today, upon the question of an election to determine the bargaining agent for the molders and foundry workers of the United Engineering and Foundry Company.

Recently a request was made to the NLRB by representatives of the International Molders and Foundry Workers of North America asking for such an election. At an election held some eighteen months ago the workers chose the United Steel Workers of America CIO as the bargaining agent. The agents of the molders' union now claim enough support to call for another election.

The United Steel Workers CIO were represented by Attorney John J. Brownlee, the molders by Attorney Robert A. Wilson. Sitting as an observer but taking no part in the issue was R. C. Doherty, industrial relations manager of the United Engineering and Foundry Company.

Any decision in the matter must come from the board and this decision will probably take some time before being handed down.

PRIVACY

Most people, when going to a Funeral Home, to hold a funeral of their loved ones, prefer a Funeral Home where they can have as much privacy as possible. This is something that we can offer to the people of this community, as either one of our Funeral Homes are large enough to accommodate most any funeral, with plenty of privacy included.

In case of calling hours, and we have more than one funeral, it is not necessary for people to mingle with those whom they have never met before.

SHENANGO CHAPTER SILVER ANNIVERSARY

With a great number of visitors present from surrounding points, the observance of the 25th anniversary of the institution of Shenango Chapter, No. 333, Order of the Eastern Star, which took place Monday evening in the Cathedral, proved an outstanding event.

Preceding the installation of the new officers for the year, a dinner and program was enjoyed in the dining room. The room was decorated in silver and white, carrying out the theme of the occasion, with a great, three-tiered birthday cake, gracing the center of a triangular setting of the tables. Favors were silver stars.

Mrs. Estella Weddell, a past matron of the chapter, was general chairman, and Mrs. Belva Bridenbaugh presided as program chairman, the invocation being given by Mrs. Harriet Harris Hammond. Vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. Lillian Buckner, accompanied by Miss Marjorie Allen.

Mrs. Bess Pond, the first matron of the chapter, told of the founding of the chapter, and recalled some of the incidents in connection with the organization. A poem, written by Charles E. Allen, one of the charter members of the chapter, was read by Mrs. Allen, and remembrances were given by Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Wolford, Charles E. Allen, and William E. Horner, and greetings were brought by Mrs. Olive Hewitt, district deputy grand matron.

This was followed by a toast and the cutting of the birthday cake by Mrs. Bess Pond and Mrs. Celia Wolford.

Eleven of the twelve surviving charter members of the chapter were present. They included Mrs. Bess Pond, Mrs. Agnes Allen, Mrs. Celia Wolford, Mrs. Leah Rugh, Mrs. Clara Mills Rose, Mrs. Lida Patterson, Mrs. Margaret Kleckner Woods, Mrs. Alice Horner, Mrs. Alice McClure, Mrs. Harriet Harris Hammond, and Mrs. Ruby Hoffmaster.

Atomic Tests Approved

The bill to authorize the use of 100 warships in the atomic bomb tests planned by the Navy passed the House by an overwhelming majority—the count was 314 to 25—but it is worth noting that there was opposition to this project. Moreover, it is of some significance that those who voted against it argued that the project should be delayed until the peace of the world is more secure.

This contention is based on the fear that these tests will be misunderstood. Those who advance it are convinced that other nations will read into this experiment an intention on the part of the United States to make use of this terrible new weapon in advancing its interests. They believe that such suspicions will make matters worse.

Considerations of this sort have led well-intentioned persons to go so far as to call the administration's present policy sheer madness. It has even been suggested that what this country ought to do is stop manufacturing the bomb, give the world a solemn pledge never to use it, and permit foreign observers to keep the plants for its manufacture under surveillance so that there can be no question of Uncle Sam's sincerity.

Similar though less extreme thinking, no doubt, led the twenty-five representatives who opposed the Navy's experiment to take their stand in opposition. But the majority were not impressed. The reason that they were not, it is safe to say, is that they were aware of the results that flowed from past efforts by this nation to provide the world with a good example. If Americans have learned anything, it is that military impotence on the part of the United States does not insure peace. Armed strength might also fail, but it could have no worse consequences than those that flow from weakness.

Appalled By Jap Policy

When Lewis J. Valentine, former police commissioner of New York City, accepted the task of reorganizing the police, fire and prison systems of Japan, he was aware of the fact that his progress in that transformation would be watched with interest by the American people. He has now reached the nation formerly referred to as the Land of the Rising Sun and some of his reactions have been noted and sent back home.

It is reported that he recoiled in horror at the sight of the first policeman he saw in Tokyo. The man who hopes to develop an Oriental counterpart of "New York's finest," was appalled by the five-foot patrolman, attired in a solid black uniform and a defeated looking cap, and carrying an unsportsmanlike sword. Mr. Valentine gave expression to his amazement when he said: "Not even a cop at the end of the Toonerville line would wear a uniform like that."

So it is not surprising that the former New York City police chief suggested first of all that the Japanese police should have uniforms of which they can be proud. It is true that a policeman who is ashamed of his own appearance can hardly bring dignity to the role of protector of the public. Other improvements he suggested were more efficient telephone and teletype systems, and the use of cruiser cars and two-way radios instead of foot patrolmen.

After a conference with Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Mr. Valentine said that the supreme commander wishes to democratize the police department and take fear of the police out of the minds of the people. Before he submits his final report to General MacArthur in two or three months, the former New Yorker plans to visit Korea also. Pictures of "Tokyo's finest," which will come to this country when Mr. Valentine's recommendations are put into effect, are eagerly awaited.

Gloria Grows Up

Many an outraged parent has sought to salvage a spoiled child by cutting off his allowance and telling him to get a job and earn his salt. Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski, the poor little rich girl of the thirties, apparently believes it is a poor rule that does not work both ways, and she is trying this Spartan system on her mother.

"Work or starve" is the dictum of the 22-year-old heiress, who has discontinued her mother's $21,000 yearly allowance. That might lead the mother, Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, to quote, "How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to have a thankless child" but Gloria Jr. believes she has little to thank her mother for.

Of her mother, Gloria says, "I am certain she can work as she has done in the past," and that may be the kindest cut of all—to imply that an ornament of prewar elite society ever engaged in trade or gainful occupation.

It might be mentioned that Gloria II has no such loathing for honest toil she rather proudly points out that she is serving as a secretary herself, not from necessity of course, but to further the work of a foundation she has established for needy children. She is doing this, she says, because she had an unhappy childhood and "I see so many children in the world who are suffering."

Gloria has grown up, and the New York Supreme Court, which took charge of her after the 1934 court battle, seems to have done a pretty sound job of rearing its ward.

A returned Michigan GI who, armed with a shotgun, went through a picket line, was arrested when it was learned he wanted to work.

Chester Bowles has issued another fighting statement but we still are wearing yellow shirts with short sleeves and long price tags.

Never before have so many been dressed for polo but the clothes horse is on us.

Nor does Chester know from his side of the managery what it is to outfit an apartment with future-delivery rugs and non-available beds.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Attlee's Declaration Just In Nick Of Time

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The declaration by Prime Minister Attlee granting independence to India has come just in time. A split second later and it might have been too late.

All information indicates that India's millions are on the brink of revolt. Their leaders will be satisfied with nothing less than complete independence. Attlee's statement in parliament had a reasonable sound. Given a choice, political leaders in India will elect to join the British commonwealth in spite of their long and frequently bitter quarrel with the British Raj. There would be great advantages in such a partnership.

Will Not Solve Problems. Political independence will not, of course, automatically solve India's problems.

The grim and massive reality of hunger looms large. And this time, it is mass starvation on a scale never known even to India's overpopulated cities.

If a minimum of grain is not made available, then political independence may not be enough to prevent revolt. Widespread famine will give political extremists their opportunity.

The Communist party is estimated to have not more than 100,000 members. This does not include the characteristic fringe of sympathizers. Communist leaders have fanatical determination.

It must be remembered, too, that revolt in India would take place against the background of the upheaval in the middle east. The situation would be ready-made for the Soviet Union.

Put It Up To U. S.

Responsibility for providing the minimum of grain rests on the United States. The British have made this abundantly clear. Just before he came to Washington, Sir Ben Smith, British post minister, announced that the purpose of his visit was to see what could be obtained here, since England has none of its own. That statement was widely printed in India.

Politically conscious leaders in India feel they have had many disillusionments during the war. Some have come from America. They believed that President Roosevelt's special envoy to India, Louis Johnson, would return and tell their version of the British-Indian quarrel. Johnson's report was suppressed. So was that of the career diplomat who succeeded him, William Phillips. The British refused to let Phillips come to London in any official capacity.

In 1942, grain out of India was shipped to the middle east. An A-10 revolt threatened the defeat of the allies. Later, according to Indian sources, American troops bought food in India.

Food-Importing Country

India has always been a food-importing country. The Indians believe that the present shortage is a result of the war. They point to the dead in the Bengal famine of two years ago as evidence.

All this makes it imperative that action be taken quickly on the food front. Shipments of grain must move during the next three months. This is the critical period if the worst of the famine is to be averted. One thing is certain. The India of the past—the fabulous, almost legendary India—is rapidly vanishing.

The change has occurred in the lifetime of the stout, ruddy-faced visitor who has been America's guest for the past two months. In his autobiography, "My Early Life," Winston Churchill tells us only he can tell how he went out to India as a young man.

It was the India of the Durbar of magnificent pageantry. The India of fast polo. Of the Pukki Sahib and his elephant and his biters. The India of Kipling and the "white man's burden."

Few Live In Splendor

A few noble princes like the Aga Khan still live in sumptuous splendor. On his birthday, the other day, the Aga Khan's subjects presented him with his weight in gold. It was a handsome gesture. It was a handsome gesture, too, out of the Arabian nights, past out of the Arabian nights, past out of the Arabian nights.

Not for better or worse, India is coming into a statehood. The way in which this happens may determine whether the government of India is a willing partner for the future in world cooperation.

In our thinking the Indians are colonial peoples. But that day is over. The world does move on. (Copyright, 1940, United Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The World and the Mud Puddles

O. P. A. IS BAD MEDICINE

It is discouraging to read that the only remedy the national administration has in mind to meet the threat of serious inflation is more and stricter control over prices. It is true that price control may be necessary in matters such as housing construction and rents, for the reason that the demand for housing is many times greater than the supply.

In the case of most commodities, however, it already has been demonstrated that governmental repression had promoted inflation instead of curbing it. The reason is obvious. When prices are so restricted as to involve loss of profit or inadequate profit, production ceases or lags.

This has been exemplified in many instances during the past few months. Many commodities in strong demand are still off the market, for the simple reason that price ceilings for the OPA render their manufacture or sale unprofitable. Every housewife is familiar with the fact because it confronts the home maker in almost every market. It is a strange conviction that at the

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Yesterday I told you about the woman who does not want to meet the 56-year-old bachelor who is looking for a wife.

This morning I received a letter from Ohio.

The writer enclosed a dollar and says: "If I should get results through your column, will you make it right with you. Hoping to hear from you through your column, I am....."

You certainly shall hear from me through my column, dear Sir! I have, of course, returned the dollar to the fellow with this note:

"I am returning your money to you. I am neither a marriage broker, nor do I accept any money for what I write—except from the people who publish my writings."

This is what the fellow wrote: "I am a young retired farmer. I had a lovely wife which died 2 years ago. Since then I have been very lonely for a companion. I am much interested to get acquainted with the opposite sex in other towns or cities. I have no one for company at the present time."

"I have a lovely home and nearly everything but a companion. I would be interested to correspond with women over the age of 30 to 40 with the hopes to find someone that I may be interested in and who would like to spend the summer months in Ohio and winter's (sic) in Miami (sic), Florida."

"I am a retired farmer in my forties (sic), do not smoke, chew or drink and considered a good homemaker."

I gave my secretary first choice at the fellow. She wouldn't mind getting married and has expressed a desire to spend her winters in Florida.

"No thanks," she said to me. "I think I'd better wait until I fall in love."

I said to get married, like every other girl, but marriage to me isn't a trade or a deal.

I am still old-fashioned enough to believe that the foundation of marriage is love—and until then I'll spend my winters in New York and freeze."

I admit that fellow out in Ohio said just a pretty good bait on his line, and if marriage were a fishing expedition, he'd probably catch some good fish that way.

But long-distance fishing for a wife isn't quite up my alley. There are two kinds of suckers involved in that kind of fishing: the sucker who gets a wife that way and the sucker who bites.

Here is my advice to the lonesome farmer from Ohio. Look around you. Go to your church. Be sociable. Be friendly. Be open-minded. Open your heart and keep your eyes open.

You'll be surprised how many good potential wives there are within a stone's throw. Only don't you throw stones at them.

Of course there is always the possibility that a person is lonesome not because he doesn't know enough people but because people know him too well.

Correct this sentence: "My wife invites people without asking me," said the man, "so I feel free to invite people without consulting her."

You can recognize the voice of the people. It is the one that cries "Amen!" when the orator says the people are intelligent.

Man at his lowest. A public prosecutor using tricky methods to get convictions to build himself a reputation.

I should choose that man with a seven-year-old beside me fairly jumping up and down. When a great magician fellow pays a visit to the town.

Would you gaze on sheep arrangement that is very close to awe? Watch a small boy's eyes start stretching as the man begins to say.

After saying to the people in a way that sounded true: "Here's a very lucky lady I'm about to cut in two."

Oh, of genuine excitement that I'm certain is the cry. When some great magician fellow pays a visit to the town.

It's a grandpa's joy and duty, now I solemnly declare. To treat a child to magic and be first such thrills to share.

He should see the lady vanish and be mystified at that. See the pigeons and the rabbits come from someone's empty hat.

Age and childhood have two raptures—our circus and the clown. Next, some great magician fellow when he brings his show to town.

Talk Of Truman Byrnes Rift Held Untrue
Congress Not Averse To Raise In Prices
Army And Navy Fears Publicity On Atom

(Special to Central Press)

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Persons close to the picture do not place much credence in reports of a rift between President Truman and Secretary of State James F. Byrnes. They point out that Byrnes' foreign policy speech in New York, in which he became outspoken in his concern over Moscow's policy, had Mr. Truman's full approval.

The President, after reading the speech, sent it back to Byrnes with a change. Mr. Truman also pencilled on the copy of the speech a note saying it was a very good talk and that he had underlined those sections he found particularly good. The note bore the initials, "HST."

The parts most frequently referred to by Byrnes being pledged to the United States and those favoring compulsory military training. It also is known that Byrnes became outspoken in his concern over Russian policy only after a majority of the cabinet went on record in favor of such a course.

May Restrict Price Control. Congress is definitely in the mood for higher prices as a stimulant to production. This attitude may result in a highly restricted extension of the Price Control act which expires June 30, instead of the unqualified extension requested by President Truman.

The attitude of the House was revealed in its rejection of subsidies to encourage production of building materials.

The sentiment of the Senate was reflected in the vote which it voted in funds for the Office of Price Administration and the Civilian Production Administration.

In rejecting subsidies, the House lined up for higher prices of building materials as the answer to greater production.

Administration leaders in Congress are frankly worried. They fear that Congress will cripple the President's new wage-price policy, scrap hold-the-line efforts and set the country off on a rampage of inflation. They blame pressure groups for the attitude of Congress.

However, regardless of the behind-the-scenes factors, members of Congress are impatient at controls. They want to throw everything overboard as quickly as possible and get back to normal.

Draft Argument Near. There is increasing sentiment in Congress for shelving universal military training until a decision is reached on extension of the draft. The House Military Affairs committee is wrestling with the problem, which must be solved soon. The termination date for the draft is May 15.

A majority of the committee is believed to favor ending the draft, provided some alternative can be found for furnishing sufficient manpower for the nation's overseas occupation forces.

Meanwhile, until this question is decided, an increasing number of members on the committee feel that a decision on peace-time military conscription should be postponed.

Some of the Army and Navy atomic energy experts are plenty worried about security in the forthcoming tests to be made in the Pacific.

They are worried mostly about what the press may find out during the six or seven weeks they will be in contact with persons conducting the experiments.

What some of the Army and Navy officers would like to do is to keep the 150 reporters and radio commentators, expected to "cover" the tests, isolated on a press ship so they cannot buttonhole experts who may know something about atomic energy. However, this will not be done.

The Army and Navy are going to keep secret the pattern in which the 97 target ships will be anchored. The reason is they fear that if exact locations and distances between ships are known, to other powers, they may be able to figure out something about the bomb.

Newsman will be permitted to see the pattern after the bomb is exploded, however.

It's difficult for us adults living in the cold, hard, cruel world with its realities to put ourselves in this young creator's place and be a child again. Some adults never do, but instead grow impatient with the little tyke and scold him for his "foolishness," so that when he grows his years of fancy and relates things as having happened which to adults seem absurd the innocent little tyke is accused of lying and is punished.

But he can see no reason for such treatment. He really lived with his own ears and saw with his own eyes what he related. He never could have been more truthful. It's those who are his accusers and punishers who must be the liars.

My new bulletin, "Now Come the Forerunners" may be had by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y., enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope. I wrote it with the hope that many little children might be better understood and more enjoyed by their parents.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

Slowly, column by column and page by page we are gradually getting caught up on a lot of reading material. Last night we read a short article in the March issue of the American Magazine concerning a Red Cross worker.

The article, which had appeared in the December issue of the same magazine, after scouting around and discovering that all old issues had been sent to the paper drive we paid a visit to the local free public library. After some searching the article was in our hands.

Now perhaps you wonder why all the trouble. It so happens that when the article was first thought about and the pictures were taken this young lady was a part of our Red Cross Club in France. It was the Red Center for the Third Infantry Division. . . . and this poor doggie was enjoying three days at the Red Center. . . . sleeping late. . . . and taking a bath. . . . the first one in four months. Miss Ann or just plain Ann as we called her, did an excellent job of singing which cheered up a large group of lonesome lads. As the article said, she was the sweetheart we left behind, the wife we left behind or the one we dreamed of some day meeting.

Ann today is traveling over the States for the Red Cross. . . . and then she wants to visit the many veteran hospitals. For our money she is tops. But she is only one of the many who have and are continuing to do a real job for the lads still in the service. Need we mention that your contribution to the ARC at this time makes certain that such service continues.

Another item that is worthy of reading appears in March issue of Reader's Digest. Why So Many G. I.'s like the Germans Best? We have been asked and hundreds of others too. . . . upon returning from Europe just what people we liked best. So many have said, "the Germans." This article explains why this is said. . . . in case you haven't read it. . . . it will give you food for thought.

Baruch Will Accept Atomic Control Board Post As U.S. Advisor

NEW YORK, March 19.—(INS)—Bernard M. Baruch, whom the nation has called upon repeatedly in times of crisis, will accept the post of American advisor on the U.N.O. atomic control board because the country's elder statesman believes it "the most serious and important thing in the world today."

The handsome, white-haired presidential advisor, who is 75 years old, was at work in his New York offices when news of his appointment by President Truman was announced at the White House.

"When President Truman and Mr. Byrnes asked me to serve, I felt I could not refuse," he said. "The control of atomic energy is the most serious and important thing in the world today."

The announcement of his appointment came today in the midst of Mr. Baruch's final preparations to appear later in the week before the Senate banking committee, which has asked him to testify in reference to the problems of continued price controls.

It also came in the midst of last minute arrangements for the large private dinner party Mr. Baruch is giving tonight for his old friend, Winston Churchill.

Friends immediately pointed out that President Truman apparently has come to lean heavily on the advice of Mr. Baruch as did President Roosevelt and his predecessors. In recent months, Mr. Baruch has shuttled constantly between his New York home and the apartment and office he maintains in Washington, D.C.

Throughout his years in Washington, Secretary of State Byrnes has been known as a "Baruch protégé."

A younger Baruch protégé, Julius A. Krug, today became secretary of the interior to succeed Harold Ickes.

Owen Fox Comments On Unusual Weather

Commenting on this "springy" weather, Owen Fox says it is very unusual for March.

Over the week end Owen saw butterflies on the wing in Gaston Park, also bees taking pollen from the pussy willows, and visiting the run for sips of water.

Owen says that this kind of weather may gradually ease us into an early spring, or on the other hand have a rude shock waking up one of these mornings with everything being frozen up, which will be disastrous.

Some of the old timers, Mr. Fox says, believe that this kind of weather brings about three window pane freezings, namely, freezing water to about the thickness of a window-pane. We have already had two of such freezings and if we get over the third freeze with the same results all will be well.

Owen saw Mr. Groundhog Saturday morning about 7:30 sitting on a stump in Gaston Park, but there is not much for him to eat yet but tree bark, with very little clover thus far.

Homecoming Is Being Planned At Westminster

NEW WILMINGTON, March 19.—Homecoming week-end at Westminster college will be held at the same time as commencement, June 1-3, according to Robert M. Maxwell, alumni secretary, who is in charge of arrangements.

Members of 1931 graduating class have already met in New Castle and planned a program. A feature of the program will be the display of pictures of the members' children.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

very time the great mass of people have plenty of money, they cannot find the goods which they would like to buy. Why? Simply because, with higher costs of production in both materials and labor, and arbitrary price ceilings which relate to take these increases into consideration, manufacturers have no incentive to supply them.

No less a person than the President himself has publicly stated the obvious truth that the need—he may well have said only—antidote to inflation is full production. When money is plenty and goods scarce, inflation is inevitable, a proposition so axiomatic that even a schoolboy understands it. Production has been hampered by strikes. It is true, and the national administration is well aware of it. But in many lines production is unhampered by strikes; it simply cannot or will not function because price restrictions take away the incentive.

Nearly everybody has encountered inflation in the form of lowered quality of merchandise, for which the seller is compelled to charge the price of good quality merchandise. When OPA puts a limit on the price of a suit of clothes, for instance, the retort of the manufacturer and the dealer is to lower the quality of the product. When price ceilings are too low, no product, even of inferior quality, is forthcoming.

There is a probability that removal of arbitrary price ceilings might create some temporary rise in prices, the competition of buyers for long desired commodities might result in some price rises, but some rises would be only transitory, because a free market would soon bring about ample supplies. The trouble in the situation created by Mr. Bowles and his theorists is that the public cannot get the things it needs and to which it is entitled. The longer this pent-up demand is frustrated, the greater the temporary inflation may be.

A candid look at the whole picture leaves only one conclusion—that the administration through the OPA, insists on putting the cart before the horse.

First the shirt tail disappeared, then the shirt. It's a neat trick but we don't care much for it.

Foresee End Of Phone Famine

PHILADELPHIA, March 19.—(INS)—Still waiting for a telephone?

Be patient—telephone instruments now are flowing out of the shops at an increasing rate.

Philip C. Staples, president of the Bell Telephone company of Philadelphia, revealed that since the peak demand in June of 1945, 76,000 persons have been accommodated.

The company's $150,000,000 post-war program is now in progress, Staples said. It embraces every element of the telephone plant, including the revolutionary dialing system for moving vehicles.

Union Officials Called Before Court About Picketing

PITTSBURGH, March 19.—(INS)—Officials of the CIO-United Electrical Workers union will be summoned before Judge Walter P. Smart today to give an account of their methods of picketing and other production workers from the Westinghouse Electric Corporation's East Pittsburgh plant.

The action was taken after the corporation's attorneys asked the court to clarify its recent preliminary injunction against mass picketing.

The firm's attorneys charged that "ever increasing" pickets at the gates prevented the workers from entering the plant. Attorney John C. Bove, Jr., said:

"Ever since the injunction was issued the number of pickets has been increased. First there were 10 to 15 at each gate. Now you've got from 80 to 150."

The drastic picketing changes were inaugurated by the union in the wake of reports that supervisors and foremen would crash the gates and seek entrance to the plant.

Pickets yesterday swarmed the gates and prevented the non-production workers from entering. No violence was reported.

The company's petition asks Judge Smart to modify his injunction by setting specific limitations on the number of pickets to be allowed on duty, and the manner of their picketing, so as not to block the passage of any person who seeks to enter or leave the plant.

Efforts to end the 64-day old strike were resumed in New York, where special government conciliators will go into conference with company officials.

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"

Without Painful Backache
Many sufferers relieved nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty urination with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 10 million of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Tremendous Loss From Many Plant Diseases In Nation

It is estimated that plant diseases and insect pests are responsible for crop losses aggregating three billions of dollars annually in the United States. Many of these pests and diseases found their way into the country from abroad. Citing just a few examples:

The Japanese beetle came into the United States with a shipment of nursery stock from Japan; as the name indicates, the European corn borer came from Europe; the San Jose scale insects came from China; the Mexican white fringed beetle landed here from South America; the Oriental fruit moth came from China; the pink boll worm from Mexico; the white pine blister rust from Europe; and the boll weevil from Mexico.

All of this shows the need for careful inspection and firm adherence to quarantine regulations at our ports of entry.

In considering the losses which the farmers of the country have sustained from the ravages of imported insect pests and plant diseases, it will readily be understood why they have opposed the ratification of the so-called Sanitary Pact with Argentina, which would be sure to lead to an outbreak of the foot-and-mouth disease in the United States.

Varied Activity At Croton School

Flower And Garden Seeds Planted
In School Rooms Watched
With Interest By Pupils

Rural students are not the only ones who spend time working with the soil, raising various crops for display or eating purposes, but city students of the Croton avenue grade school too have turned to the soil to see what they can raise in the line of flowers and vegetables.

A number of eager pupils were found very busily engaged Monday afternoon, preparing the soil, getting ready to plant packets of seeds, in wooden "flats" located in the rooms of grade 2-1, 2-2 3-1 and 3-2 taught by Mrs. Dorothy Perdrie and Mrs. Ada Sadler.

The earnest students found that much preparatory work had to be done to the soil before the seeds could be planted. Two of the members of the classes, Harry DeRosa and Nick Nemo, were dispatched to the woods, where they obtained the proper soil, then strained it, later actually boiling it, before it could be used, to obtain the desired results. Planting it in the flats, a small amount of fertilizer was put under each seed to aid in its desire to produce beautiful flowers or some vegetable for the table.

Many of the plants obtained from the work of the pupils will also be transplanted in gardens by the students at their homes.

A very outstanding piece of workmanship was observed in the room of Mrs. Sadler, in the form of a model project, depicting the life of the Dutch. Included in the display was the polders, tulip beds, boats, wind mills, a stock on the North Sea and other objects making the Holland project complete.

The Croton avenue residents are listening to a new sound every morning emanating from the practice room of the Croton Band, led by Mrs. Perdrie. The band has secured a new bell lyre and will be used extensively in the outdoor concerts of the band, during the Spring.

British Physicist Faces New Charge On Atomic Secrets

LONDON, March 19.—(INS)—Dr. Alan Nunn May, 34-year-old British physicist, was charged for the second time today with divulging information on atomic research to a person whose identity so far has not been disclosed.

A British crown prosecutor told the court that the respectable physicist's college physics instructor had admitted disclosing secret information while serving with an atomic energy investigation commission in Canada last year.

Remanded to prison following his arrest several weeks ago for violation of the official secrets act, May was described as a senior member of the investigating commission with access to the latest British and Canadian atomic energy discoveries.

NORRISTOWN—Fire Chief Miles Riley and his men would like to keep emergency calls to a minimum. So Riley told homeowners that when burning brush on vacant lots they could summon a fire engine to stand by and be ready to prevent any spread of flames.

Commander In China Awaits Orders From U.S.

PEIPING, March 19.—(INS)—Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer today awaited instructions from Washington on the question of sending American troops into Manchuria to aid in repatriation of Japanese.

The commander of American forces in China told newsmen that he had asked Washington to clarify his responsibility in repatriating Japanese from Manchuria and added:

"I don't want to become involved in incidents but I may send men to Manchuria to help establish communications and repatriation centers."

To Visit Manchuria Wedemeyer, himself, plans to visit the South Manchuria port of Huliao which he described as "a potentially fine debarcation point."

He said that about a dozen Americans are now in Huliao helping Chinese officials set up supply warehouses.

The American general pointed out that removal of all Japanese from Chinese soil is one of the primary United States objectives. He said he was "eager" to start the Manchurian repatriation move because he would soon have shipping available.

Wedemeyer said he had learned that there are 700,000 Japanese military personnel and 1,200,000 Japanese civilians in Manchuria but added that these figures might be "unreliable."

Hope For Break In Westinghouse Strike Shortly

NEW YORK, March 19.—(INS)—An early break in the nine-week-old Westinghouse strike—the nation's largest current labor stoppage—was expected today following a union offer to end mass picketing if the company will present a promise of new wage offer.

It was revealed that the company was withholding a "generous" wage proposal because the striking CIO United Electrical Workers have refused to permit non-production workers to pass through picket lines at Westinghouse plants in Jersey City and East Pittsburgh.

The union's new offer, put forward last night, will be discussed today at a meeting in New York of company and union officials.

State Police Force May Reach Full Strength This Year

Commissioner Wilhelm Predicts Authorized Strength Of 1600 Will Be Reached

HARRISBURG, March 19.—(INS)—Commissioner C. M. Wilhelm predicted today that the Pennsylvania State police force would reach its authorized strength of 1600 men for the first time in its 40-year history.

"We hope to reach 1600 men by the end of the year," Wilhelm stated. "We have been up to 1550 men but never up to 1600 as authorized by law, because of the turnover."

Peak strength of Pennsylvania's world famous law enforcement organization was reached in 1940, he explained. The force currently musters 1425 troopers.

"We are not only adding new men but a lot of men have returned to duty from the armed forces," Wilhelm said.

Approximately 200 members have returned after serving in the armed forces while about 125 others remain on military duty, he added. Under state police regulations only single men between the ages of 21 and 40 will be accepted for duty, Wilhelm said.

"We give preference to single men," he explained. "We get enough applications from single men that we don't have to dip into the ranks of married men."

Landlords Now Choosey Granting Tenants Housing

PITTSBURGH, March 19.—(INS)—Pittsburgh's housing shortage is still critical, but if you're single, have a way with babies, and don't mind shoveling snow or tending the furnace, your chances of finding an apartment are better than average.

That at least has been the observation of pretty Jessi Wiseman whose sole job is to find apartments for other people.

Jessi is secretary to the Westinghouse Educational Center, Wilkensburg, and for the past five years has been securing rooms for members of Westinghouse's graduate student training course.

As an indication of the swift change in the housing market, Jean declared:

A year ago I had a file of 200 available rooms and quite a few apartments. Now I have less than 50 rooms and there's a long waiting list for apartments."

Landlords, who can be particular these days, have a purpose in renting rooms, Jean discovered. She said:

"Landlords with marriageable daughters prefer single men. Elderly widows want young men who will take care of the furnace and shovel snow. Young married couples are looking for nice steady girls who will sit up with the baby while they go out."

Coe Glade Hailed As 'The' Carmen

Mezzo-Soprano Who Takes Part Of Opera's Heroine Has Fine Interpretation Of Role

Coe Glade, who takes the part of Carmen in Bizet's great opera, which appears here tonight under the auspices of the Legion of Honor of the Valley of New Castle Conservatory, is considered "The" Carmen of today, and has sung the role more often than any other singer during the past two decades.

Along with Mostyn Thomas, bluff, hearty baritone, who sings the part of Escamillo, they head a strong cast, which will delight lovers of opera from this district.

Miss Glade excels as an actress. She gets under the skin of the part and she physically looks like a gypsy. With her black hair and flashing eyes, she clicks the castanets and tosses a rhythmic hip.

In support will be the San Carlo ballet and chorus of a hundred persons, with Lydia Arlova, premiere danseuse, and Lucien Prideaux, premier danseur.

How to get rid of Unwanted Guests!

If house guests stay too long, an easy way to get rid of them is to put a pee-wee sized lamp bulb in their bed lamp and then send them to bed early. Or if you want to turn your own family into bulb snatchers (people who rob one socket to fill another) try the same trick on them.

Be Kind to Your Family Though

But it's a lot better to give your family plenty of light by keeping sockets filled with right-sized bulbs. You'll notice that it will help to prevent eyestrain and headaches, too. The best lamp bulbs cost as little as 10c plus tax, so be sure you have an extra supply on your shelf all the time.

A-Bomb Task Force Is Ready To Go At Once

ROSWELL, N. M., March 19.—(INS)—Brig. Gen. Roger Ramey on Monday pronounced his atomic bomb aerial task force "ready to go when the whistle blows."

He said the comprehensive training program of all crews slated to participate in the Bikini crossroads operation will end Friday. Specially equipped superforts will be withdrawn from flying for final mechanical rechecking before leaving for their striking base at Kwajalein.

Training Completed
The one-star leader reported: "We have accomplished all the training we can do here, and we are not the least bit worried about the record our crews will set in the Pacific."

"We began with the best men available anywhere in the air forces, and their bombing—frankly speaking—is damned good."

Ramey said that in addition to perfecting sub-stratosphere techniques for employment of the atomic bomb at Bikini, the intensive six-week training period at Roswell has given invaluable information to the 3,600 officers and men who will participate in the air forces part of the operation.

Some Already At Scene
Already, elements of Ramey's 1.5 task force group have reached Kwajalein, both by air and sea, and Col. Millard Young, Ramey's chief of staff, reported today that advance Pacific headquarters now are functioning.

Training this week, Ramey said, will be concentrated on final missions for selection of the crew which will actually drop the Bikini bomb, together with sorting out of crews and pilots who will operate the technically-equipped observation and photographic planes.

Col. William Blanchard, of Chelsea, Mass., will supervise the closing phases of the training program in the desert areas northwest of Roswell this week.

Legislation Is Urged By Truman

Speaker Rayburn Gives Outline Of Legislation Needed In Present Congress Session

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(INS)—House Speaker Rayburn disclosed today that President Truman on Monday outlined at his White House conference with the congressional "big four" a six-point legislative "must" program which he feels should be acted upon before Congress adjourns.

Rayburn told a news conference: "There are some things that must be passed."

As outlined by Rayburn, they were:

1. Appropriation bills for the 1947 fiscal year beginning July 1.
2. Extension of the draft act, which expires May 15.
3. Approval of the proposed three billion, 750 million dollar loan to Great Britain.
4. The housing bill.
5. Atomic legislation "of some kind."
6. Extension of price control beginning June 30.

Rayburn said the President did not say how long an extension of the draft he favored. However, stated Rayburn: "The President is anxious about extension of selective service. I suppose he wants a year; that's what he's been talking about."

Red Army Units Must Withdraw Before Oil Parley

LONDON, March 19.—(INS)—The British foreign office announced Monday that the Tehran government will not even consider the question of giving Russia fresh oil concessions in Iran until all Red army units are withdrawn from that middle eastern country.

Questioned concerning the report that secret talks were underway between Russian and Iranian representatives with a view toward negotiating oil concessions, a spokesman for the British foreign office declared:

"The question of oil concessions will not be considered by the Iranian government until after the elections, which cannot be held until all foreign troops have left Iranian soil."

When pressed as to whether the reference to "foreign troops" included the Soviet forces reported in mysterious moves within northern and western Iran, the spokesman emphasized:

"This includes everybody." The British spokesman indicated that allied circles are interested in internationalizing the Iranian oil fields under UNO control, though as authoritative circles and oil experts discounted reports of secret Russo-Iranian negotiations.

THE MIRACLES OF COMMUNICATION

Pioneered by the Bell Telephone Laboratories

Jules Verne had a prophetic and eerie imagination.

The Bell System has the Bell Telephone Laboratories!

Here, among a maze of apparatus, instruments, and machinery, hundreds of scientists and engineers, using fundamental and applied research, discover, appraise, develop, and make practical fantastic, new miracles of communication.

These men dream of the future. Then they make their dreams come true.

Their one objective is to make communication ever better and better, ever faster and faster—and more economical—for you.

And one of the objectives of our $150,000,000 expansion program is to make available, as fast as we can, their many new developments.

Marvelous things are on the way, some of them in their earliest scientific stages. Others are ready for us, and you.

Long distance dialing, for example, is now a fact as operators dial direct from long distance switchboards to telephones in far-away places.

It will be possible to talk by telephone from automobiles, taxis, trucks, and buses.

If you're deaf, you'll learn to read "pictures of speech," the Laboratories' new electronic development.

A new cable—called coaxial—already shoulders an unheard of number of conversations simultaneously, and will play a stellar role in bringing television into your home.

Even before the war, Bell Laboratories engineers were experimenting extensively with radio waves—called microwaves—only a few centimeters long. The possibilities of microwaves are almost unbelievable.

It's our job to make all these new developments available to you . . . and the best news we have for you is that we are actually at work on all this today.

Here are the Three Objectives of our $150,000,000 EXPANSION PROGRAM

1. To end all waiting lists for telephone service.
2. To provide the people of this State—city people and farmers—with finer and finer telephone service.
3. To make available the many new developments in communication, pioneered by the Bell Telephone Laboratories.

Personnel Man And CIO Director Are Speakers At Forum

Joseph Patton, John Grajciar Talk
At Economic Foundation Meeting Monday Evening

Attended by a large group representative of both management and labor, the sixth session of a series on "Human Problems in Business and Industry" took place in the auditorium of Franklin Junior high school Monday evening, under the sponsorship of the Economic and Business Foundation of New Wilmington.

Speakers for the forum were Joseph B. Patton, personnel director of the Oliver Iron and Steel Corporation in Pittsburgh, and John W. Grajciar, district director of the United Steelworkers of America, CIO. Dr. A. M. Paxson, director of education for the foundation, presided.

Representing management in the discussion of "Relationships Between Supervisory Management and Shop Stewards", Mr. Patton stressed the four points of receptiveness, fairness, cooperation, and respect as the most important in any dealings between the supervisors and the stewards, or grievance men, of the unions.

Mr. Grajciar, who spoke for labor, used specific examples to point out many of the difficulties and problems which cause faulty steward-supervisor relationships. Knowledge of the contract and an attempt to be fair about both sides of the problem are two things fundamental to smooth operations in any department, the steelworkers' director emphasized.

The formal talks were followed by an open forum period, with both speakers answering a number of questions from the audience. Preceding the meeting, Mr. Grajciar and Mr. Patton were entertained at a dinner given by the foundation in The Castleton hotel.

Sgt. Roland Crisci Welcomed Home

Young Chaplain's Assistant From
Croton Avenue Will Resume
Musical Career

A steady stream of neighbors and friends have been filing in and out of the Crisci home on Croton avenue for the past few days to welcome home one of the neighborhood boys, Sgt. Roland G. Crisci, who has returned to his home after receiving his honorable discharge from the Army at Fort Dix, N. J., on March 17. Anxious to return to his home, Sgt. Crisci, who had been in Philadelphia to Pittsburgh by air, where he was eagerly awaited at the Allegheny county airport by his mother, father and sister.

Sergeant Crisci entered service May 29, 1943, receiving his basic training at Ft. Eustis, Va., later receiving additional training at Camp Edwards, Mass., then at a camp in Orlando, Fla., from where he headed to the port of embarkation at Boston for overseas duty.

Discharged, Crisci, in his 19 months overseas duty, served with the U.S.A.F. as a personnel clerk, but due to his outstanding musical ability, he was appointed assistant to the chaplain, serving in his camp chapel as organist and musical director. Not satisfied with this contribution to the religious service, he organized a glee club of 25 members during his sojourn in Furt, Germany, and an a cappella choir of a like number of "G.I.s" while they marked time in Bad Neustadt, Germany. His musical ability earned him a citation from his Chaplain Henry J. Masman for excellency in this work.

While serving overseas, Sergeant Crisci served in Scotland, England, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany and was privileged to make an extended tour of Switzerland.

A number of awards have been earned by the Croton soldier, which include the American campaign medal, Europe, African Middle Eastern campaign medal, good conduct medal and World War II victory medal.

Roland, who previous to his induction was a student at Westminster Choir college at Princeton, N. J., where he had completed one year, plans to return there in the fall to resume his musical career.

Veteran Crisci's parents are Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Crisci of 1005 Croton avenue.

EGGS EXCELLENT TO SERVE FOR ANY MEAL

Every person can have an egg a day for good health when eggs are plentiful and inexpensive. Eggs are not limited to breakfast, but lend themselves to other meals of the day and may be served as a main dish, in salads or in desserts.

In cooking eggs, low temperatures are necessary for best results. High temperatures make the white of egg tough. Custards will curdle if cooked too long or at too high a temperature.

Soft cooked, scrambled, poached or fried eggs are popular for breakfast, while eggs prepared in more elaborate ways are often used for dinner or supper. If the family is prompt for meals, try serving an omelet. Chopped parsley, chopped cooked bacon, grated cheese, minced cooked ham or jelly may be sprinkled or spread over the omelet just before folding it. Another way to vary an omelet is to pour creamed mushroom sauce, creamed peas or asparagus or tomato sauce over it on the serving platter.

Custards are good desserts when the family includes young children as well as adults. Soft custard may be served over fruit, cake crumbs, prune whip or with meringue, such as floating island. Make baked custards plain or caramelize sugar and add to the bottom of each buttered custard cup. Gelatin desserts, in which beaten egg whites have been folded, appeal to the appetite. To increase food value of bread pudding, rice and tapioca, a whole egg or several yolks may be added to them.

Where there are infants who eat just egg yolks, homemakers often find it difficult to use the whites. These may be used in angel food cake, meringues, which may be served with soft custard, cake frosting, fruit whips or whipped into gelatin desserts.

Barbers Discuss Increased Prices

Mass Meeting Held By Hairclippers
Monday Evening With Over
50 Attending

Over 50 New Castle barbers, members of the Journeymen's Union of America, the Master Barbers and several non-union barbers, attended the mass meeting held last night at city hall with Albert Canthelo, president of the Journeymen's Union, in charge.

The matter of prices was discussed by the barbers with the price of 25 cents for adults, 15 cents and 10 cents for children, being strongly advocated. The matter of raising the price of shaves was discussed with no action taken, the price remaining for the time being at 40 cents.

Favorable comment was heard that a majority of the New Castle barbers will go along with the prices quoted above.

Local Musicians Perform For Bishop

Bishop J. A. McFadden Of Youngstown Sees Agnes Zacheo And Angelo Filizzen Perform

In the presence of the Most Rev. James A. McFadden, D.D., S.T.D., bishop of the diocese of Youngstown, O., little nine-year-old Agnes Filizzen, Jr., violin prodigy of this city, and Agnes Zacheo, 12-year-old Ellwood City promising pianist, performed several duet selections at the third annual St. Patrick's Day minstrel program in Youngstown, O., on Sunday.

The two well-known musicians performed at the matinee and evening performances, given at the Stambaugh auditorium, and in the audience were quite a few localites. The St. Patrick's Day program was presented under the auspices of St. Dominic's parish for the promotion of Catholic youth activities.

Miss Zacheo is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Zacheo of Division avenue, Ellwood City. Angelo is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Filizzen, Sr., of 716 Nesbarnock boulevard, this city.

Motorists of Spain are seeking small, low powered passenger cars because the price of gasoline is high and taxes are based on the horsepower rating of the vehicle.

Housing Delay Blame Is Placed On U.S. Authority

PITTSBURGH, March 19.—(INS)—Pittsburgh's veterans housing program today—and the city fathers placed the blame in the lap of the federal public housing authority. Originally the city put in a bid for 10,000 housing units and then rushed proper legislation to comply with FHFA's regulations. That was two months ago.

As yet no word has been received from the housing authority—no word other than only 750 of the 10,000 units will be allotted the nation's steel capital.

Briton Protests Use Of Bombs On Goats

LONDON.—S. G. Polhill, secretary of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, protested in a letter published by the Times against the use of pigs and goats in the Pacific atomic bomb tests.

Calling the tests "admittedly inconclusive," he asked:

"Of what worth is a victory that is consummated by still further sacrifice of the innocent?"

Green Opposes Releasing Of War Workers For Vets

PHILADELPHIA, March 19.—(INS)—AFL President William Green was on the record today as strongly opposed to the firing of war workers to assure jobs for returning servicemen with less seniority.

"The men who worked in the shop and factory gave of their time and muscle and skill to support our men overseas," Green told a meeting of 1,000 AFL metal trades workers in Philadelphia. He added:

"I don't believe any serviceman wants to come home and be afforded super-seniority over them." Turning to international affairs, the AFL president urged that the United States maintain a navy "second to none" in the troubled post-war world. Green ridiculed assertions that the atomic bomb has rendered the navy obsolete.

He spoke of the "sharp exchanges" between influential individuals as a menace to the United Nations organization, but added:

"It is inconceivable that any great power, so recently familiar with the horrors of modern combat, would dare to plunge the world into another war at this time."

Mueller Before Arbitration Board

PITTSBURGH, March 19.—(INS)—Union President George L. Mueller was scheduled to appear before a three-man arbitration board for the second straight day today to press pay demands against the Duquesne Light Co.

Mueller is seeking a 37 per cent blanket wage increase and retroactive payments equivalent to approximately 264 per cent of an employee's monthly wage.

The holding union leader accused the company of attempts to "bust" the union by agreeing to put a new contract into effect on the day it is signed and not on the day the negotiations begin.

He also sought one master contract, affecting 3400 employees, rather than nine different contracts with the company and its affiliated firms.

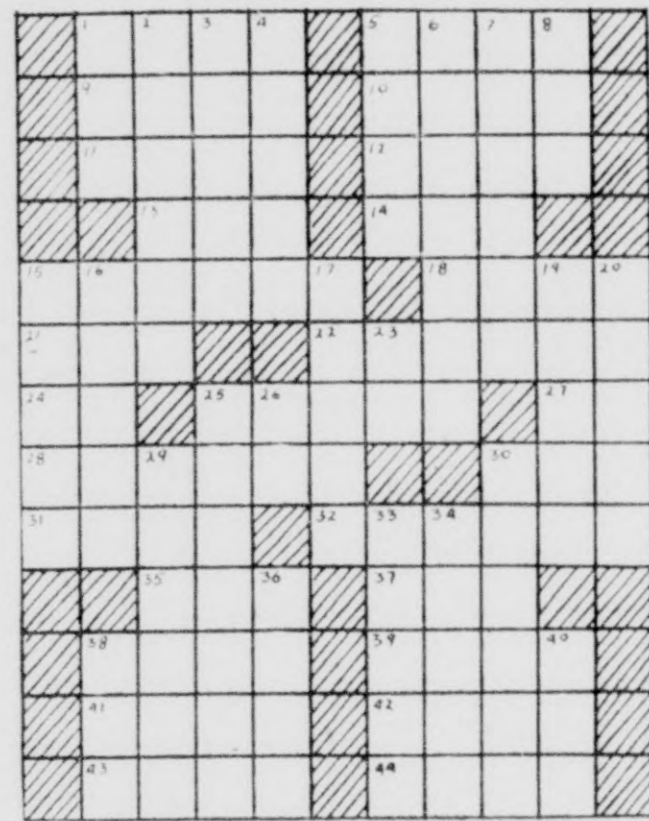

The board will listen to the company's side of the case within the next few days.

Emeritus means in Latin, "having served one's time of service."

Women's Groups Asked To Help National Cause

Women's organizations were asked today by the National Safety Council to cooperate in the nationwide accident prevention movement.

Mrs. Anne H. Barnard, director of the women's division of the Council, is seeking the help of women's groups throughout the nation for an organized effort against accidental death and injury.

"The magnificent war effort of the women of America has demonstrated their willingness and abilities to see a job through to the finish," Mrs. Barnard said.

"The accident prevention movement needs the minds and energies of the 46,000,000 American women as homemakers, business and professional women, civic and community leaders and citizens."

"The very fact that accidental deaths to children numbered 14,700 last year should be enough to challenge every woman and every woman's organization."

She advised heads of women's groups to get in touch with their local or state safety councils, or to write directly to the women's division of the National Safety Council, 800 Chrysler Building, New York 17, New York.

Says More Bees Needed On Farms

Although the government has paid tens of millions of dollars in subsidies to encourage the production of legume seeds during the past few years, the results have been disappointing.

These seeds were badly needed to increase livestock and dairy production, both at home and abroad. While the farmers did their best to cooperate by increasing their acreage, the yields were low.

About 25 years ago an acre of good clover would yield 12 bushels of seed. Today the average is less than one bushel.

A contributor to the Farm Journal declares the reason for this is that we have too few bees at work on our farms. "There are at least 50 legume, vegetable and fruit bearing crops that need pollination such as we get mainly from bees, if they are to set seed," says this writer.

He recommends that farmers should get some bees and take care of them: rent colonies from a beekeeper during the blooming season, or buy package bees from the South and release them each year, solely as pollinators.

Winant Hints He May Retire

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(INS)—John G. Winant, United States ambassador to Great Britain, conferred with President Truman Monday and later hinted that he may retire.

Asked about reports of his retirement, Winant told reporters:

"I took the post as a wartime job and that wartime job is now ended." He would not, however, say specifically that he had requested his retirement from President Truman.

Winant said he is returning to his post in London for a brief period.

Goering Would Have Succeeded Hitler In Power

Ex-Reichsmarshal Says He Would Have Continued War If Hitler Had Been Killed

NUERNBERG, March 19.—(INS)—Herman Goering, once deputy fuhrer of the Third Reich, admitted Monday that he would have continued the war had Adolf Hitler been assassinated—even though he knew Germany would not win.

Pawning and squirming under the cross-examination of Chief U. S. Prosecutor Robert M. Jackson, the fat ex-Reichsmarshal acknowledged that he was in line to succeed Hitler.

Asked by Jackson when he considered the war as definitely lost for Germany, Goering asserted:

"When the Russian reached the Oder and the Ardennes offensive failed in January, 1945—not before."

Jackson then sought to determine whether it would not have been possible to eliminate Hitler at that time. To which Goering replied:

"Murder of Hitler in January, 1945, would have resulted in my succession. I, too, would have continued the fight in view of the request for unconditional surrender."

Influence Diminishes

Loosing some of his arrogance, Goering told the war crimes tribunal that his influence on Hitler "diminished from 1943 and (Deputy Party Leader Martin) Bormann's increased." He added:

"After July 20, 1944, the fuhrer was full of distrust and listened only to Bormann who constantly was at his side."

However, the once-arrogant Luftwaffe leader bemoaned the fact that Hitler distrusted him at the end. He wailed:

"I never betrayed Hitler nor negotiated with a single enemy soldier."

"The mistake grieves me that the fuhrer, in his last hours, believed I was ever disloyal."

Goering smiled ingratiatingly and cringed meekly in the witness stand as he told the court that the fuhrer principle was adopted by

New York Throngs Affect Miss Henie

NEW YORK, (INS)—Sonja Henie ice skating queen, always is nervous when appearing before New York audiences.

And yet, Miss Henie never uttered a word of complaint when performing before kings and queens; the motion picture camera; large audiences in other major cities of the country; and the hypercritical judges of figure ice skating.

The star, now appearing in Madison Square Garden with her Hollywood Ice Review, says that in New York she feels "uneasy" that things will not be just so.

But it is natural Miss Henie should have the old feeling of competitive tension in the metropolis because three major events of her career took place in Manhattan.

They were: Winning of a world's title in 1930; a spectacular success in the amateur ice carnival in 1934 and her first professional appearance in 1936.

The latter pointed the road to Hollywood.

Hirohito Feared Attacks By Gas

TOKYO, March 19.—(INS)—Emperor Hirohito prepared himself against gas attacks as early as 1932, and by 1937 had a gas defense company on 24-hour guard at the imperial palace.

Allied headquarters revealed today that the first anti-gas defenses were installed in the imperial palace grounds in 1932 when Japan committed itself to aggression in Manchuria.

More gas defenses were added when China was invaded, and again after the Pearl Harbor attack, until the palace grounds had four shelters capable of sustaining 600 persons from 50 to 100 hours.

General MacArthur's chief chemical officer, Col. Geoffrey Marshall, said the palace had a gas defense company on 24-hour guard from the time China was invaded in 1937.

RELIEF BURDEN GROWS IN STATE

Quarter Million Person Mark Is Reached: Expenditures Over $3,500,000 In Month

HARRISBURG, March 19.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's relief burden was over the quarter-million person mark today and there was nothing to indicate when the past war increase would level off.

The addition of 11,346 persons to the rolls during the week ended March 9, the DPA reported, boosted the number of relief recipients to 257,593. It was revealed that 13,100 persons were added to the rolls during the four weeks ended March 9.

According to the department's report, all of the new recipients were placed on general relief, the number of recipients of blind persons, aid to dependent children and old age assistance was not altered from the previous week.

The DPA reported the following totals for the week: general assistance, 51,453; old age assistance, 47,441; aid to dependent children, 105,710; blind persons, 12,289.

Expenditures were estimated at more than $5,500,000 a month. The federal government contributes approximately one-third of the cost.

Ukrainians Will Hold Convention

PITTSBURGH, March 19.—(INS)—Five hundred delegates representing 475 branches of the Ukrainian National association will meet for their first convention since 1941 in Pittsburgh, March 24.

Officers of the group will present reports on the progress of the fraternal order since the last general meeting.

The association was founded in Shamokin, Pa., in 1934, and represents more than 46,000 members—more than a third of them in Pennsylvania.

Nicholas Murasko, of Jersey City, N. J., is president. Other executive officers are: Gregory Herman of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., vice president; Mrs. Maria Malachuk of Pittsburgh, vice president; Dimitro Halvychyn of New York, secretary; and Roman Stobodan of Elizabeth, N. J., treasurer.

DISGRUNTLED THIEF

CHICAGO.—(INS)—A thief discovered today that oddly enough "it doesn't pay to advertise." He attempted to sell 200 Reynolds ball point pens, and even though he offered them at a figure far below the retail price, he found very few purchasers. The reason? Platinus printed on each of the pens was "Stolen from Milton Reynolds."

The thief was part of a special case for which the company's board chairman recently had made up for personal presentation to retailers.

Father And Son Facing Death On Gallows In Iowa

Philip Heney And Son, William Henry, 45, Sullenly Await Gallows Climbs

FORT MADISON, Ia., March 19.—(INS)—Philip Heney, 71, and his 45-year-old son, William Henry, today sullenly awaited their death on the gallows of the Iowa State penitentiary.

No last minute appeal is expected to be made for the two men, convicted slayers of Robert Rabe, Lake Okoboji resort operator, on December 16, 1944.

The execution, scheduled for the hour of dawn on March 29, will be the first father-son execution in Iowa's history. The two men will plunge simultaneously through trap doors when a lever is pulled by Sheriff Joe L. McQuirk of Spirit Lake, Ia.

20 Years Of Crime

Their execution will end what police describe as "father-son crime team" which operated for 20 years.

The elder Heney's wife died when their son was only eight days old. The son never married.

The Rev. Herman Bongers, Catholic chaplain at the penitentiary, recently appealed to Iowa Governor Robert D. Blue for clemency, pointing out that the two men are illiterate. The father attended school for two years and the son four years.

They spend their time in death row listening to the radio and have steadfastly refused to allow their pictures to be taken or to be interviewed by newsmen.

Deny Canada Plans Any Break With Russia

OTTAWA, March 19.—(INS)—A spokesman for the Canadian office of external affairs today denied published reports predicting a break in Russian-Canadian diplomatic relations over Soviet spy activities.

Discussing a report presumably quoting neutral diplomatic officials that a break with Russia probably would result from Canadian disclosures of Russian embassy dispatches to Moscow, this official said:

"The story is entirely unauthoritative speculation, and mere speculation."

"Not only is it not very well informed, but it is not true. So far as Canada is concerned, there will be no move to break off diplomatic relations with Russia."

MAY BE SIGNIFICANT

LONDON, March 19.—(INS)—An Ankara dispatch to the London Times said today scheduled arrival of the Battleship Missouri in Turkish waters might be considered as emphasizing U. S. interest in settlement of the straits question.

The dispatch referred to a U. S. note of last November advocating further discussions of proposed international use of Turkish-controlled waters.

The Missouri, convoyed by other U. S. naval vessels, will arrive in Istanbul April 3 with the body of the late Turkish ambassador to Washington.

Pennsy Railroad Awaits Opening Of Great Lakes Season

With iron ore freight comprising a large amount of the tonnage on the Pennsylvania railroad, officials of the E. & A. division are awaiting the opening of the Great Lakes navigation season.

Winter maintenance and repair work on the Ashtabula harbor docks and the 21 lake vessels moored there is being rushed to completion. The Ashtabula shipyard of the Great Lakes Engineering Works is engaged in a heavy program which includes a ship engine rebuilding job.

Pennsy traffic to and from the harbor is heavy during the spring and summer months, the trains hauling coal to the docks and returning with their cargoes of ore.

The winter freight movements are but a fraction of the summertime traffic since the loads are taken from the reserve piles in the harbor and the ships are not able to arrive.

Disinter Finger Of Nine-Year-Old To Perform Graft

CHESTER, Pa., March 19.—(INS)—Nine-year-old Mary Anne Vall severed the tip of a finger to the first joint on a broken fender while playing a game of tag on a Chester street.

She ran home to her parents who took her to Crozer hospital. In the meantime, her playmates picked up the finger tip and carefully buried it.

When the surgeon asked for the tip to graft it back on her finger, it was necessary to disinter the member. Physicians termed the operation a success.
